

Catch of the Day

Issue 2, Winter 2015

Canadian Fisheries
Research Network

Réseau canadien de recherche sur la pêche

Welcome to the second edition of Catch of the Day, featuring the latest news from the CFRN! In this issue, we bring news of recent fisheries meetings and events, updates on member publications and awards, and personal accounts from student research experiences abroad. In addition, we highlight PhD student Kristin Dinning's lobster research. Read on for all this and more...

News

Annual General Meeting News

A reminder to save the dates for our 5th AGM which will be held November 17-20, 2015 in Halifax, Nova Scotia. This will be the final major meeting of the CFRN. Stay tuned for details!

Students collaborate in development of Comprehensive Fisheries Evaluation Framework

A group of CFRN students unveil their work to advance a framework for evaluation of fisheries at a Project 1.1 meeting in St. Andrews.

By CFRN

Ontario Commercial Fisheries' Association presents Partnership Award to CFRN's Rob Stephenson

Rob Stephenson is presented with the Robert J. Graham Partnership Award at the OCFA Annual Convention in Niagara Falls.

By OFCA

David Gislason's SNEI-sponsored visit to the University of Bergen, Norway

David travels to Norway to work with the Evolutionary Ecology research group at the University of Bergen.

By David Gislason

Fan Zhang's SNEI-sponsored visit to Professor Volker Grimm's lab in Leipzig, Germany

Fan visits a senior scientist at the Helmholtz Center for Environmental Research at the University of Potsdam in Germany.

By Fan Zhang

CFRN Student Research Featured in Industry Newsletter: Kristin Dinning, PhD candidate, University of New Brunswick

Lobster Fisher Survey: Where Do Young Lobsters Live?

Research on habitats used by young lobsters suggests surprising results, and was featured in the Fishermen and Scientists Research Society's Hook, Line and Thinker newsletter.

By Kristin Dinning

CFRN Member Publications

Congratulations to the following members on their recent publications!

Institutional innovation in fisheries governance: adaptive co-management in situations of legal pluralism. Current Opinion in Environmental Sustainability, December 2014.

Authors: Courtenay Parlee and Melanie Wiber. Click here for full article.

Whose audit is it? Harnessing the power of audit culture in conditions of legal pluralism. The Journal of Legal Pluralism and Unofficial Law, December 2014.

Authors: Courtenay Parlee and Melanie Wiber. Click here for full article.

Governing enclosure for coastal communities: Social embeddedness in a Canadian shrimp fishery. Marine Policy, January 2015.

Authors: Paul Foley, Charles Mather and Barb Neis. Click here for full article.

Key principles of marine ecosystem-based management. Marine Policy, April 2015.

Authors: Rachel Long, Tony Charles and Rob Stephenson. Click here for full article.

Other News

CFRN Members Launch Consulting Company

Congratulations to Ashleen Benson and Sean Cox on the launch of their new consultancy, Landmark Fisheries Research. Check out the services they offer at <http://www.landmarkfisheries.com>.

2014 Best Holiday Sweater Contest winner: Courtenay Parlee

For her winning entry, Courtenay received a pair of fish-themed socks that were hand knit by CFRN's very own Jennifer Herne. Thanks to everyone who participated in this fun contest. Your photo contributions were greatly appreciated and honourable mentions go out to all contest competitors.

For more CFRN news and to stay up to date on all of our activities, visit our website (<http://www.cfrn-rcrp.ca>), follow us on Twitter (@CFRN_RCRP), and like us on Facebook (www.facebook.com/CanadianFisheries).